had the stamina to fill every day with soaring lyrics about commitment and pure objectives except nothing good came from overbearing stagecraft no matter how right and compelling any truth might be the audience eventually became too familiar and comfortable and too smug and worst of all lazy in the presence of pivotal matters the singer always knew when fatigue was stealing his audience the drift in the eyes the reflexive quickness of the passion that s when the dragon delivered some new flourish a cutting insight or a jolt of humor that left the multitudes engaged charisma that was a piece in how till inspired a sprawling nation and charisma was why he stood above all other dragons except this eternal man didn t carry much fondness for leadership and its trappings charm could win any day but the days rarely mattered unity was an ally in defending a frail aging universe but perpetual unity was never the goal that s why the daily performances only came at the cycle s beginning weave unity into the cultural center then step away giving that passion ample room outside eyes looking down from some high ignorant place might consider the waywards as being a half coherent mob of fanatics because we are till would sing praising people and machines alike standing on the great round watched by shameless proselytes he cultivated the best kinds of mayhem no leader could shape every mind who knew that better and that s why every wayward child was free to shape his beliefs and her beliefs and more importantly discover personal doubts and disbeliefs too robert reed is the based on simon sinek s viral video millennials in the workplace 150 million views imagine a world where almost everyone wakes up inspired to go to work feels trusted and valued during the day then returns home feeling fulfilled this is not a crazy idealized notion today in many successful organizations great leaders create environments in which people naturally work together to do remarkable things in his work with organizations around the world simon sinek noticed that some teams trust each other so deeply that they would literally put their lives on the line for each other other teams no matter what incentives are offered are doomed to infighting fragmentation and failure why the answer became clear during a conversation with a marine corps general officers eat last he said sinek watched as the most junior marines ate first while the most senior marines took their place at the back of the line what s symbolic in the chow hall is deadly serious on the battlefield great leaders sacrifice their own comfort even their own survival for the good of those in their care too many workplaces are driven by cynicism paranoia and self interest but the best ones foster trust and cooperation because their leaders build what sinek calls a circle of safety that separates the security inside the team from the challenges outside sinek illustrates his ideas with fascinating true
