girl in translation set against the backdrop of china's cultural revolution that follows a father's quest to reunite his family before his precocious daughter's momentous birthday which garth greenwell calls one of the most beautiful debuts i've read in years how many times in life can we start over without losing ourselves in the summer of 1986 in a small chinese village ten year old junie receives a momentous letter from her parents who had left for america years ago her father promises to return home and collect her by her twelfth birthday but junie's growing determination to stay put in the idyllic countryside with her beloved grandparents threatens to derail her family's shared future junie doesn't know that her parents momo and cassia are newly estranged from one another in their adopted country each holding close private tragedies and histories from the tumultuous years of their youth during china's cultural revolution while momo grapples anew with his deferred musical ambitions and dreams for junie's future in america cassia finally begins to wrestle with a shocking act of brutality from years ago for momo to fulfill his promise he must make one last desperate attempt to reunite all three family members before junie's birthday even if it means bringing painful family secrets to light swimming back to trout river is a symphony of a novel bookpage that weaves together the stories of junie momo cassia and dawn a talented violinist from momo's past while depicting their heartbreak and resilience tenderly revealing the hope compromises and abiding ingenuity that make up the lives of immigrants feng's debut is filled with tragedy yet touched with life affirming passion kirkus reviews starred review and feng weaves a plot both surprising and inevitable with not a word to spare booklist starred review a major new southern voice emerges in this novel about a town divided by the aftermath of a tragic accident and the woman caught in the middle when a twelve year old girl drowns in the tamassee river and her body is trapped in a deep eddy the people of the small south carolina town that bears the river's name are thrown into the national spotlight the girl's parents want to attempt a rescue of the body environmentalists are convinced the rescue operation will cause permanent damage to the river and set a dangerous precedent torn between the two sides is maggie glenn a twenty eight year old newspaper photographer who grew up in the town and has been sent to document the incident since leaving home almost ten years ago maggie has done her best to avoid her father but now as the town's conflict opens old wounds she finds herself revisiting the past she's fought so hard to leave behind meanwhile the reporter who's accompanied her to cover the story turns out to have a painful past of his own and one that might stand in the way of their romance drawing on the same lyrical prose and strong sense of place that distinguished his award winning first novel one foot in eden ron rash has written a book about the deepest human themes the love of the land the hold of the dead on the living and the need to lives on extraordinary testimony to the indomitable strength of one pioneer woman who risked her life to return to her own people widely hailed as the nobel prize winning author s greatest work this novel takes us into the life of a young indian man who moves to an isolated town at the bend of a great river in a newly independent african nation brilliant the new york times in this haunting masterpiece of postcolonial literature short listed for the booker prize in 1979 naipaul gives us a convincing and disturbing vision of a place caught between the dangerously alluring modern world and its own tenacious past salim is doubly an outsider in his new home an unnamed country that resembles the congo by virtue of his origins in a community of indian merchants on the coast of east africa uncertain of his future he has come to take possession of a local trading post he has naively purchased sight unseen but what salim discovers on his arrival is a ghost town reduced to ruins in the wake of the recently departed european colonizers and in the process of being reclaimed by the surrounding forest salim struggles to build his business against a backdrop of growing chaos conflict ignorance and poverty his is a journey into the heart of africa into the same territory explored by joseph conrad s heart of darkness nearly eighty years earlier but witnessed this time from the other side of the tragedy of colonization salim discovers that the nation s violent legacy persists through the rise of a dictator who calls himself the people s savior but whose regime is built on fear and lies confirms naipaul s position as one of the best writers now at work newsweek coretta scott king john steptoe award winner in this taut eloquent first novel booklist starred review a young black
