also support transportation goals for safety and efficiency past obstacles to establishing native plant communities on roadsides have been technical informational and organizational effective strategies and practical techniques for revegetating the disturbed conditions with limited resources must be made available to practitioners multiple disciplines ranging from engineering to soil science ecology botany and wildlife science must be able to work cooperatively not in isolation this report offers an integrated approach to facilitate the successful establishment of native plants along roadsides and other areas of disturbance associated with road modifications it guides readers through a comprehensive process of 1 initiating 2 planning 3 implementing and 4 monitoring a roadside revegetating project with native plants highway engineers as designers strive to meet the needs of highway users while maintaining the integrity of the environment unique combinations of design controls and constraints that are often conflicting call for unique design solutions a policy on geometric design of highways and streets provides guidance based on established practices that are supplemented by recent research this document is also intended as a
