presents a collection of stories selected from magazines in the united states and canada picking up where her modern classic the bean trees left off barbara kingsolver s bestselling pigs in heaven continues the tale of turtle and taylor greer a native american girl and her adoptive mother who have settled in tucson arizona as they both try to overcome their difficult pasts taking place three years after the bean trees taylor is now dating a musician named jax and has officially adopted turtle but when a lawyer for the cherokee nation begins to investigate the adoption their new life together begins to crumble depicting the clash between fierce family love and tribal law poverty and means abandonment and belonging pigs in heaven is a morally wrenching gently humorous work of fiction that speaks equally to the head and the heart this edition includes a p s section with additional insights from barbara kingsolver background material suggestions for further reading and more bestselling author barbara kingsolver returns with her first nonfiction narrative that will open your eyes in a hundred new ways to an old truth you are what you eat as the u s population made an unprecedented mad dash for the sun belt one carload of us paddled against the tide heading for the promised land where water falls from the sky and green stuff grows all around we were about to begin the adventure of realigning our lives with our food chain naturally our first stop was to buy junk food and fossil fuel hang on for the ride with characteristic poetry and pluck barbara kingsolver and her family sweep readers along on their journey away from the industrial food pipeline to a rural life in which they vow to buy only food raised in their own neighborhood grow it themselves or learn to live without it their good humored search yields surprising discoveries about turkey sex life and overly zealous zucchini plants en route to a food culture that s better for the neighborhood and also better on the table part memoir part journalistic investigation animal vegetable miracle makes a passionate case for putting the kitchen back at the center of family life and diversified farms at the center of the american diet this is the story of a year in which we made every attempt to feed ourselves animals and vegetables whose provenance we really knew and of how our family was changed by our first year of deliberately eating food produced from the same place where we worked went to school loved our neighbors drank the water and breathed the air a new york times bestseller named one of the best books of the year 2018 by npr o the oprah magazine san francisco chronicle christian science monitor and newsweek the new york times bestselling author of flight behavior the lacuna and the poisonwood bible and recipient of numerous literary awards including the national humanities medal the dayton literary peace prize and the orange prize returns with a timely novel that interweaves past and present to explore the human capacity for resiliency and compassion in times of great upheaval how could two hardworking people do everything right in life a woman asks and end up destitute willa knox and her husband followed all the rules as responsible parents and professionals and have nothing to show for it but debts and an inherited brick house that is falling apart the magazine where willa worked has folded the college where her husband had tenure has closed their dubious shelter is also the only option for a disabled father in law and an exasperating free spirited daughter when the family s one success story an ivy educated son is uprooted by tragedy he seems likely to join them with dark complications of his own in another time a troubled husband and public servant asks how can a man tell the truth and be reviled for it a science teacher with a passion for honest investigation thatcher greenwood finds himself under siege his employer forbids him to speak of the exciting work just published by charles darwin his young bride and social climbing mother in law bristle at the risk of scandal and dismiss his worries that their elegant house is unsound in a village ostensibly founded as a benevolent utopia thatcher wants only to honor his duties but his friendships with a woman scientist and a renegade newspaper editor threaten to draw him into a vendetta with the town's powerful men unsheltered is the compulsively readable story of two families in two centuries who live at the corner of sixth and plum in vineland new jersey navigating what seems to be the end of the world as they know it with history as their tantalizing canvas these characters paint a startlingly relevant portrait of life in precarious times when the foundations of the past have failed to prepare us for the future from a bestselling and beloved author an intensely personal collection of poetry rich with political and human resonance ursula k leguin before becoming the bestselling author we know today barbara kingsolver as a new college graduate in search of adventure moved to the borderlands of tucson arizona what she found she says was another america interweaving past political events from the us backed dictatorships in south america to the government surveillance carried out in the reagan years kingsolver's early poetry expands into a broader examination of the racism discrimination and immigration system she witnessed at close range the poems coalesce in a record of her emerging adulthood in which she confronts the hypocrisy of the national myth of america a confrontation that would come to shape her not only as an artist but as a citizen with a new introduction from kingsolver that reflects on the current border crisis another america is a striking portrait of a country deeply divided between those with privilege and those without and the lives of urgent purpose that may be carved out in between with a foreword by barbara kingsolver a compelling worldview with advocates from around the globe agrarianism challenges the shortcomings of our industrial and technological economy not simply focused on farming the agrarian outlook encourages us to develop practices and policies that promote the health of land community and culture agrarianism reminds us that no matter how urban we become our survival will always be inextricably linked to the precious resources of soil water and air combining fresh insights from the disciplines of education law history urban and regional planning economics philosophy religion ecology politics and agriculture these original essays develop a sophisticated critique of our culture's current relationship to the land while offering practical alternatives leading agrarians including wendell berry vandana shiva wes jackson gene logsdon brian donahue eric freyfogle and david orr explain how our goals should be redirected toward genuinely sustainable communities these writers call us to an honest accounting and correction of our often destructive ways they suggest how our society can take practical steps toward integrating soils watersheds forests wildlife urban areas and human populations into one great system a responsible flourishing of our world and culture there is no one quite like barbara kingsolver in contemporary literature raves the washington post book world and it is right she has been nominated three times for the abby award and her critically acclaimed writings consistently enjoy spectacular commercial success as they entertain and touch her legions of loyal fans in high tide in tucson she returns to her familiar themes of family community the common good and the natural world the title essay considers buster a hermit crab that accidentally stows away on kingsolver's return trip from the bahamas to her desert home and turns out to have manic depressive tendencies buster is running around for all he's worth one can only presume it's high tide in tucson kingsolver brings a moral vision and refreshing sense of humor to subjects ranging from modern motherhood to the history of private property to the suspended citizenship of human beings in the animal kingdom beautifully packaged with original illustrations by well known illustrator paul mirocha these wise lessons on the urgent business of being alive make it a perfect gift for kingsolver's many fans from the tallgrass prairies of kansas to the alaskan tundra and the desert southwest a dedicated novelist and conservationist teams up with an acclaimed photographer to capture america's endangered virgin lands and wilderness examining the spirit and beauty of these diverse landscapes and offering a determined call for their preservation the teenage son of an appalachian single mother who dies when he is eleven uses his good looks wit and instincts to survive foster care child labor addiction disastrous loves and crushing losses barbara kingsolver's fifth novel is a hymn to wildness that celebrates the prodigal spirit of human nature and of nature itself it weaves together three stories of human love within a larger tapestry of lives amid the mountains and farms of southern appalachia over the course of one humid summer this novel's intriguing protagonists face disparate predicaments but find connections to one another and to the flora and fauna with which they necessarily share a place barbara kingsolver's national bestseller the poisonwood bible paints an intimate portrait of a crisis ridden family amid the larger backdrop of an african nation in chaos critics and readers alike have acclaimed the novel as the greatest achievement of one of america's foremost living authors examine how the tragedy of the price family mirrors the political unrest in the congo how the novel views religion and marriage and how kingsolver reconciles the demands of art with her belief that writing should support a political cause new york times bestseller finalist for the pulitzer prize an oprah's book club selection powerful kingsolver has with infinitely steady hands worked the prickly threads of religion politics race sin and redemption into a thing of terrible beauty los angeles times book review the poisonwood bible now celebrating its 25th anniversary established barbara kingsolver as one of the most thoughtful and daring of modern writers taking its place alongside the classic works of postcolonial literature it is a suspenseful epic of one family's tragic undoing and remarkable reconstruction over the course of three decades in africa the story is told by the wife and four daughters of nathan price a fierce evangelical baptist who takes his family and mission to the belgian congo in 1959 they carry with them everything they believe they will need from home but soon find that all of it from garden seeds to scripture is calamitously transformed on african soil the novel is set against one of the most dramatic political chronicles of the twentieth century the congo's fight for independence from belgium the murder of its first elected prime minister the cia coup to install his replacement and the insidious progress of a world economic order that robs the fledgling african nation of its autonomy against this backdrop orleanna price reconstructs the story of her evangelist husband's part in the western assault on africa a tale indelibly darkened by her own losses and unanswerable questions about her own culpability also narrating the story by turns are her four daughters the teenaged rachel adolescent twins leah and adah and ruth may a prescient five year old these sharply observant girls who arrive in the congo with racial preconceptions forged in 1950s georgia will be marked in surprisingly different ways by their father's intractable mission and by africa itself ultimately each must strike her own separate path to salvation their passionately intertwined stories become a compelling exploration of moral risk and personal responsibility the first novel in nine years from barbara kingsolver author of the international bestseller the poisonwood bible the essential pocket primer on climate change that will leave an indelible impact on everyone who reads it hope Jahren asks the central question of our time how can we learn to live on a finite planet elizabeth kolbert author of the sixth extinction hope Jahren is the voice that science has been waiting for nature hope Jahren is an award winning scientist a brilliant writer a passionate teacher and one of the seven billion people with whom we share this earth in the story of more she illuminates the link between human habits and our imperiled planet in concise highly readable chapters she takes us through the science behind the key inventions from electric power to large scale farming to automobiles that even as they help us release greenhouse gases into the atmosphere like never before she explains the current and projected consequences of global warming from superstorms to rising sea levels and the actions that we all can take to fight back at once an explainer on the mechanisms of global change and a lively personal narrative given to us in Jahren's inimitable voice the story of more is a superb account of the deadly struggle between humanity and what may prove the only life bearing planet within ten light years e o wilson the heinemann plays series offers contemporary drama and classic plays in durable classroom editions many have large casts and an equal mix of boy and girl parts this play is a dramatization of daniel keyes's story about a retarded adult who desperately wants to be able to read and write extraordinarily fine kingsolver has a chekhovian tenderness toward her characters the title story is pure poetry russell banks new york times book review with the same wit and sensitivity that have come to characterize her highly praised and beloved novels acclaimed author barbara kingsolver gives us a rich and emotionally resonant collection of twelve stories spreading her memorable characters over landscapes ranging from northern california to the hills of eastern kentucky and the caribbean island of st lucia kingsolver tells stories of hope momentary joy and powerful endurance in every setting kingsolver s distinctive voice at times comic but often heartrending rings true as she explores the twin themes of family ties and the life choices one must ultimately make alone homeland and other stories creates a world of love and possibility that readers will want to take as their own adrienne is living in a puritanical age when the best compliment a childless woman can get is you d make a terrific mother that s when she goes to her friends labor day picnic and accidentally kills their baby the shock of this scene is expertly packed into two brief paragraphs what follows is adrienne s retreat from life and her attempt to return to it her sharp scepticism about the people around her is achingly funny yet beyond derision there is forgiveness and something along the lines of love in twenty two wonderfully articulate essays barbara kingsolver raises her voice in praise of nature family literature and the joys of everyday life while examining the genesis of war violence and poverty in our world from the author of high tide in tucson comes small wonder a new collection of essays that begins with a parable gleaned from recent news villagers search for a missing infant boy and find him unharmed in the cave of a dangerous bear that has mothered him like one of her own clearly our understanding of evil needs to be revised what we fear most can save us from this tale barbara kingsolver goes on to consider the chasm between the privileged and the poor which she sees as the root cause of violence and war in our time she writes about her attachment to the land to nature and wilderness trees and mountains the place from which she tells her stories whether worrying about the dangers of genetically engineered food crops or creating opportunities for children to feel useful and competent like growing food for the family s table kingsolver looks for small wonders where they grow and celebrates them from an isolated mountain cabin deanna wolfe a reclusive wildlife biologist is caught off guard by a young hunter who changes utterly her self assured solitary life holding the line barbara kingsolver s first non fiction book is the story of women s lives transformed by an a signal event set in the small mining towns of arizona it is part oral history and part social criticism exploring the process of empowerment which occurs when people work together as a community like kingsolver s award winning novels holding the line is a beautifully written book grounded on the strength of its characters hundreds of families held the line in the 1983 strike against phelps dodge copper in arizona after more than a year the strikers lost their union certification but the battle permanently altered the social order in these small predominantly hispanic mining towns at the time the strike began many women said they couldn t leave the house without their husband s permission yet when injunctions barred union men from picketing their wives and daughters turned out for the daily picket lines when the strike dragged on and men left to seek jobs elsewhere women continued to picket organize support and defend their rights even when the towns were occupied by the national guard nothing can ever be the same as it was before said Diane McCormick of the Morenci miners women's auxiliary look at us at the beginning of this strike we were just a bunch of ladies set in the present day in the rural community of Feathertown Tennessee flight behavior tells the story of Dellarobia Turnbow a petite razor sharp 29 year old who nurtured worldly ambitions before becoming pregnant and marrying at seventeen now after more than a decade of tending to small children on a failing farm oppressed by poverty isolation and her husband's antagonistic family she has mitigated her boredom by surrendering to an obsessive flirtation with a handsome younger man in the opening scene Dellarobia is headed for a secluded mountain cabin to meet this man and initiate what she expects will be a self-destructive affair but the tryst never happens instead she walks into something on the mountainside she cannot explain or understand a forested valley filled with silent red fire that appears to her a miracle after years lived entirely in the confines of one small house Dellarobia finds her path suddenly opening out chapter by chapter into blunt and confrontational engagement with her family her church her town her continent and finally the world at large how can you talk about being civil when innocent animals are being tortured to death civil I'll be civil when the killings are done the island of Anacapa off the coast of California is overrun with black rats which are threatening the ancient population of ground nesting birds Alma Boyd Takesue of the National Park Service is the spokesperson for a campaign to exterminate these man introduced rodents once and for all Alma highly self-disciplined with a stubborn streak speaks as a conservationist though the fact that her grandmother was once stranded on Anacapa for three weeks with nothing but thousands of crawling rats for company might explain some of her zeal with days to go before the aerial rat poisoning Alma's plan is in danger of sabotage Dave Lajoy and Anise Reed a pair of notorious environmental activists are recognizable from a distance by his knotted dreadlocks and her flame red cyclone of hair Dave is an electronics salesman with barely controlled rages for whom the plight of the rats is yet another of life's many injustices along with lazy tramps and second rate wine Anise is a struggling folk singer with her own terrible reasons for getting involved in the cause from the outset Alma Dave and Anise are at ideological loggerheads but when Alma's sights turn to the infestation of non-native pigs on Santa Cruz where Anise was brought up by her single mother and a clan of ranchers the stakes are raised and the debate threatens to boil over into something much more real when the killings are done is t c boyle's blistering new novel a sweeping epic of family ecology and the right to life no matter what the fallout a picaresque adventure
