4 words that are not in the general vocabulary today but might be usefully and pleasantly revived the mascarene islands in the southern indian ocean mauritius réunion and rodrigues were once home to an extraordinary range of birds and reptiles evolving on these isolated volcanic islands in the absence of mammalian predators or competitors the land was dominated by giant tortoises parrots skinks and geckos burrowing boas flightless rails herons and of course in mauritius the dodo uninhabited and only discovered in the 1500s colonisation by european settlers in the 1600s led to dramatic changes in the ecology of the islands the birds and tortoises were slaughtered indiscriminately while introduced rats cats pigs and monkeys destroyed their eggs the once extensive forests logged and invasive introduced plants from all over the tropics devastated the ecosystem the now familiar icon of extinction the dodo was gone from mauritius within 50 years of human settlement and over the next 150 years many of the mascarenes other native vertebrates followed suit the product of over 30 years research by anthony cheke lost land of the dodo provides a comprehensive yet hugely enjoyable account of the story of the islands changing ecology interspersed with human stories the islands biogeographical anomalies and much else many french publications old and new especially for réunion are discussed and referenced in english for the first time the book is richly illustrated with maps and contemporary illustrations of the animals and their environment many of which have rarely been reprinted before illustrated box texts look in detail at each extinct vertebrate species while julian hume s superb colour plates bring many of the extinct birds to life lost land of the dodo provides the definitive account of this tragic yet remarkable fauna and is a must read for anyone interested in islands their ecology and the history of our relationship with the world around us this work is a complete english translation of the latin etymologies of isidore bishop of seville c 560 636 isidore compiled the work between c 615 and the early 630s and it takes the form of an encyclopedia arranged by subject matter it contains much lore of the late classical world beginning with the seven liberal arts including rhetoric and touches on thousands of topics ranging from the names of god the terminology of the law the technologies of fabrics ships and agriculture to the names of cities and rivers the theatrical arts and cooking utensils isidore provides etymologies for most of the terms he explains finding in the causes of words the underlying key to their meaning this book offers a highly readable translation of the twenty books of the etymologies one of the most widely known texts for a thousand years from isidore s time this is the first volume to take a broad historical sweep of the close relation between medicines and poisons in the western tradition and their interconnectedness they are like two ends of a spectrum for the same natural material can be medicine or poison depending on the dose and poisons can be transformed into medicines while medicines can turn out to be poisons the book looks at important moments in the history of the relationship between poisons and medicines in european history from roman times with the greek physician galen through the renaissance and the maverick physician paracelsus to the present when poisons are actively being turned into beneficial medicines the work is a translation in english and french of the apocalypse found in the gigas medieval manuscript and compared against the north african apocalypse found in the commentary by primasius which latin text is pre cyprian the old latin text in both manuscripts are 100 years apart and circulated in the western church before the time of jerome steller s classic work published in latin in 1751 and in german in 1753 contains the only scientific description from life of the steller s sea cow hydrodamalis gigas as well as the first scientific descriptions of the fur seal or sea bear callorhinus ursinus steller s sea lion eumetopias jubatus and the sea otter enhydra lutris steller s sea cow was a sirenian or manatee inhabiting the north pacific ocean and bering sea it was first discovered by europeans in 1741 and rendered extinct by 1768 it was a 30 foot long plant eating aquatic mammal weighing up to 12 tons that lived in large herds on the coasts of alaska and kamchatka steller made his observations as part of vitus bering s second voyage during which the crew was shipwrecked for 9 months on bering island from november 1741 to august 1742 so much more than just a bestselling dictionary mosby s medical dictionary 9th edition is a one stop
