twelve stories by science fiction master stanisław lem nine of them never before published in english of these twelve short stories by science fiction master Stanisław Lem only three have previously appeared in English making this the first new book of fiction by Lem since the late 1980s. The stories display the full range of Lem's intense curiosity about scientific ideas as well as his sardonic approach to human nature, presenting as multifarious a collection of mad scientists as any reader could wish for. Many of these stories feature artificial intelligences or artificial life forms, long a Lem preoccupation. Some feature quite insane theories of cosmology or evolution, all are thought provoking and scathingly funny. Written from 1956 to 1993, the stories are arranged in chronological order. In the title story, the truth a scientist in an insane asylum theorizes that the sun is alive. The journal appears to be an account by an omnipotent being describing the creation of infinite universes until, in a classic Lem twist, it turns out to be no such thing. In an enigma, beings debate whether offspring can be created without advanced degrees and design templates.

Other stories feature a computer that can predict the future by 137 seconds, matter destroying spores, a hunt in which the prey is a robot and an electronic brain eager to go on the lam. These stories are peak Lem, exploring ideas and themes that resonate throughout his writing. Included is the title story in which a thieving vagrant takes on a young apprentice, twenty-six men and a girl in which wretched bakery workers destroy their only source of joy, and Makar Chudra, a boy who feels persecuted by the banality of everyday life yearns to ascend to the cold and majestic plane of the stars. A seamstress finds liberation of a sort in becoming a dog and howling at the moon. A club of young girls masquerade as the grieving fiancées of strange men. This book brings together these and other remarkable short stories by the Russian Symbolist Fyodor Sologub that explore the lengths to which people will go to transcend the mundane. Renowned as one of late imperial Russia's finest stylists, Sologub bridges the great nineteenth-century novel and the fin de siècle avant garde he stands out for his masterful command of both realist and fantastic storytelling his play with language evinces a belief in its capacity to access other worlds and other levels of meaning many of sologub s stories are set among children whose alienation from the adult world has lent them imagination and curiosity enabling them to create an alternative reality at the same time he bluntly examines the sordid realities of late imperial russian society and frankly presents sometimes unconventional sexuality the book also features a selection of sologub s little fairy tales ambiguous parables couched in childlike language whose ingenuity anticipates the miniatures and incidents of daniil kharm s susanne fusso s elegant translation offers these artful tales to an english speaking audience presents a collection of thirteen stories written between 1937 and the 1950s in a bucolic idyll a terrorist agonizes over the act of violence he is about to commit on a remote island in the south
