Most Effective Natural Hemorrhoid Treatment 1833

hemroids are akin to but not the same as varicose veins the medical name for the veins providing blood to the anus is hemorrhoidal plexuses that s the network of blood vessels of the lower rectum and anal canal and that is the only place in the human body where hemroids can grow the veins in the anus area are quite flexible and stretchable to coexist with the bowel expanding and contracting this is why a hemroid can only occur in this area of the body no other veins in the body can stretch as much and become so huge when pressurized with blood think of a hemroid as the weakest part of a stretchy area of blood vessels as such it develops when one of the weakened veins expands under pressure such as when straining on the toilet if it expands too much it may be unable to return to normal size and it is then called a hemroid get this amazon bestselling book today hemorrhoids are a serious health concern then many people suffer from in this book you will learn not only how to treat and cure hemorrhoids but also how to prevent hemorrhoids this book was written to help all those who are afflicted with hemorrhoids recover and start

Hemorrhoids 2019-06-19 piles is another term for hemorrhoids hemorrhoids are collections of inflamed tissue in the anal canal they contain blood vessels support tissue muscle and elastic fibers many people have piles but the symptoms are not always obvious hemorrhoids cause noticeable symptoms for at least 50 percent of people in the united states u s before the age of 50 years this article will explore piles their causes how to diagnose grade and treat them and what effects they might have on the body fast facts on piles here are some key points about piles more detail and supporting information is in the main article piles are collections of tissue and vein that become inflamed and swollen the size of piles can vary and they are found inside or outside the anus piles occur due to chronic constipation chronic diarrhea lifting heavy weights pregnancy or straining when passing a stool a doctor can usually diagnose piles on examination hemorrhoids are graded on a scale from i to iv at grades iii or iv surgery may be necessary piles are inflamed and swollen collections of tissue in the anal area they can have a range of sizes and they may be internal or external internal piles are normally located between 2 and 4 centimeters cm above the opening of the anus and they are the more common type external piles occur on the outside edge of the anus symptoms in most cases the symptoms of piles are not serious they normally resolve on their own after a few days an individual with piles may experience the following symptoms a hard possibly painful lump may be felt around the anus it may contain coagulated blood piles that contain blood are called thrombosed external hemorrhoids after passing a stool a person with piles may experience the feeling that the bowels are still full bright red blood is visible after a bowel movement the area around the anus is itchy red and sore pain occurs during the passing of a stool piles can escalate into a more severe condition this can include excessive anal bleeding also possibly leading to anemia infection fecal incontinence or an inability to control bowel movements anal fistula in which a new channel is created between the surface of the skin near the anus and the inside of the anus a strangulated hemorrhoid in which the blood supply to the hemorrhoid is cut off causing complications including infection or a blood clot piles is classified into four grades grade i there are small inflammations usually inside the lining of the anus they are not visible grade ii grade ii piles are larger than grade i piles but also remain inside the anus they may get pushed out during the passing of stool but they will return unaided grade iii these are also known as prolapsed hemorrhoids and appear outside the anus the individual may feel them hanging from the rectum but they can be easily re inserted grade iv these cannot be pushed back in and need treatment they are large and remain outside of the anus external piles form small lumps on the outside edge of the anus they are very itchy and can become painful if a blood clot develops as the blood clot can block the flow of blood thrombosed external piles or hemorrhoids that have clotted require immediate medical treatment want to learn more please read this b

the exact pathophysiology of hemorrhoidal development is poorly understood for years the theory of varicose veins which postulated that hemorrhoids were caused by varicose veins in the anal canal had been popular but now it is obsolete because hemorrhoids and anorectal varices are proven to be distinct entities in fact patients with portal hypertension and varices do not have an increased incidence of hemorrhoids today the theory of sliding anal canal lining is widely accepted this proposes that hemorrhoids develop when the supporting tissues of the anal cushions disintegrate or deteriorate hemorrhoids are therefore the pathological term to describe the abnormal downward displacement of the anal cushions causing venous dilatation there are typically three major anal cushions located in the right anterior right posterior and left lateral aspect of the anal canal and various numbers of minor cushions lying between them the anal cushions of patients with hemorrhoids show significant pathological changes these changes include abnormal venous dilatation vascular thrombosis degenerative process in the collagen fibers and fibroelastic tissues distortion and rupture of the anal subepithelial muscle in addition to the above findings a severe inflammatory reaction involving the vascular wall and surrounding connective tissue has been demonstrated in hemorrhoidal specimens with associated mucosal ulceration ischemia and thrombosis several enzymes or mediators involving the degradation of supporting tissues in the anal cushions have been studied among these matrix metalloproteinase mmp a zinc dependent proteinase is one of the most potent enzymes being capable of degrading extracellular proteins such as elastin fibronectin and collagen mmp 9 was found to be over expressed in hemorrhoids in association with the breakdown of elastic fibers activation of mmp 2 and mmp 9 by thrombin plasmin or other proteinases resulted in the disruption of the capillary bed and promotion of angioproliferative activity of transforming growth factor β $\text{tgf } \beta$ recently increased microvascular density was found in hemorrhoidal tissue suggesting that neovascularization might be another important phenomenon of hemorrhoidal disease moreover these workers found that microvascular density increased in hemorrhoidal tissue especially when thrombosis and stromal

Their treatment by the application of nitric acid Hemorrhoids No More!: the Home Remedy to Hemorrhoids Bleeding and Treatments with Tips for Managing Hemorrhoids During Pregnancy Treatment Including How to Avoid Hemorrhoids Pain! 2016-06-25 it is no secret that hemorrhoids is a condition that most if there are even any of us will want to be associated with as a matter of fact when the name is mentioned as in the word hemorrhoids most of us would rather sit in a bath of cold beans than discuss the condition in public yes that is how bad it is and did you know that hemorrhoids affect up to 50 of persons that are over 50 years of age and that this varies from a brief short lived episode to a continuing debilitating condition now the question that one might want to ask is what really are hemorrhoids and to put it another way what can be attributed to be the cause of it anyway well to give answers to that we may need to understand what hemorrhoids are in the first place to start with i want you to know that inside the anus there is a soft layer called mucosal cushions which are soft and very vascular however when the areas of these cushions become enlarged and the blood vessels bulge they are called hemorrhoids as a matter of fact when this happens and care is not taken the blood vessel could burst and this may now lead to bleeding of the hemorrhoids and may also cause other complications now the truth is that it is possible to suffer from some symptoms and not know it well by that i mean you may not be able to identify or even associate it with a particular condition however since we are focused on hemorrhoids here hopefully you won t experience all the symptoms associated with it and more probably if you do have one or two of the symptoms you will not definitely suffer from all of them at the same time be that as it may it is important for you to know that the symptoms of hemorrhoids are anal itching and discomfort an anal lump at the outer rim of your anus which might be engorged and tender as a matter of fact this may be giving you some pains when you are passing stools after going to the lavatory besides you might also notice some unpleasant marks in your underwear anyway the good news is that hemorrhoids home treatment exist and actually comprise of a healthy lifestyle schedule of a fiber rich diet exercise prudent use of medicinal creams and pain reliever but the truth is that this lifestyle can only be adopted after seeing your general practitioner who may confirm your suspected diagnosis that is the best way to go as it is not a good thing to go on self medication no matter what however i will implore you to get a copy of the book now and acquaint yourself with all the little details that will help your manage the condition with little or no stress yes get the book hemorrhoids no more the home remedy to hemorrhoids bleeding and treatments with tips for managing hemorrhoids during
